AT THOMSON CHURCH.

Dr. Bickley Delivers the Second of his Series of Talks

ON THE CHURCH OF MODERN TIMES

What the Church of To-day Will Encourage—Not so Much a Matter of Theology and Creeds as Simple Faith and Practice of that Faith. The Millennial Glory will be Hastened—A Large Congregation Present.

Yesterday morning Rev. Dr. F. T. D. Bickley, pastor of Thomson M. E. church, on the Island, delivered the second of his discourses on "The Church for Modern Times." A large congregation was present, many of whom had not before seen the many and extensive improvements made in the church edifice. The music was again a prominent and enjoyable feature of the services. Thomson church has, under Dr. Bickley's pastorate, made great strides to the front, and to the doctor's efforts more is due than to anyone. In the course of his sermon he said:

The modern church will encourage every development in social and intellectual realm; give fullest sympathy and influence to every thing the interest of which is to help our fellows.

It will encourage the deepest interest in matters of public and political advancement. "The world is my parish," was Wesley's cry, and the Master said, "Go ye into all the world." Christianity as Christ taught it did not separate religion from the duties of practical citizenship, but rather urges as a part of religious life to fear God and honor the King—to render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's.

It will encourage the truest kind of patriotism and heroism—that for the right. It will encourage the largest personal interest in domestic and foreign relations, the development of the arts and sciences, the enlargement of physical possibilities in improvements and inventions, that the religion of Christ may reach every race and tribe.

It will encourage no mere wishy-washy, trashy love of mankind, but intensely practical, earnest, good works, abounding to all.

It will encourage efforts to liberalize the mind and heart and to do away with denominational zeal and narrowness—that destructive bigotry which makes so many ready to believe that there is no work of God but among themselves.

It will encourage the breaking down and undermining all middle walls of partition reared either by cunning craftiness of the devil or the foolish follies of men—and will proclaim Christ's broadest, teaching and utterance—"whoever doeth the will of My Father which is in Heaven, the same is my brother and sister and mother."

It will encourage the broadest kind of culture. One came to Wesley and said: "I read only the Bible. I am not willing to dilute piety with knowledge taught by men." "Well," said Wesley, "If you need no book but the Bible, you have gotten above St. Paul. You need preach no more."

The church for modern times takes the ground that the broadest learning is not inconsistent with the highest spirituality. "Study to show thyself approved unto God. A workman that needeth not to be ashamed." It encourages the largest, broadest scholarship and makes no excuse for ignorance on general topics of life. It shuts no door to any realm of mental or spiritual development that the most perfect man may be presented at last with fully developed talents.

It will encourage the broadest conception of divine brotherhood and fullness of the Gospel, and welcome into his blessed family. Formalism will be broken down before the power of truth and will yield to common-sense methods and simple love of the Gospel of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

This is the conception of the church we would preach. "Every one that feareth God and worketh righteousness is accepted of Him." Assurance is the blessed privilege of all children of God, but it will not be enforced or demanded under pain of damnation imposed upon all who do not know its experience.

In this modern church the Gospel should be preached in all its purity, free from additions, accretions and traditions of men. Broad, free, liberal, tolerant with the generous advocacy of the spirit as opposed to the letter.

When the heart is right and lives are above reproach the hand of love and recognition of good will and co-operation will be gladly extended in full communion to all who love the Lord Jesus Christ.

The modern church will show broadest charity to even those stigmatized as heretics,—where life is beautiful and blameless, no matter how much they not accord with my way of looking at things.

It will be a society where that liberty of thinking will be granted each other that each desires shall be granted himself, and will no more insist on their embracing his opinions than he would have them insist on his embracing theirs.

The one demand will be union of love in that far-reaching question: Is thy heart right as my heart with thy heart? It will be a church where everyone will be allowed to follow the dictates of his own conscience in simplicity and godly sincerity. Its sole inquiry of admission into its communion will be: Reverence for God as great and good and wise and second endeavoring according to the best light one has to do all things well.

Such simplicity and practical utterance of its life will commend it to people in shops and mills, at desks and machines, to proprietor and agent, to employer and employee. The multitudes will cry out as did the poor pagan, who for the first time heard the glorious gospel—"This is what we have been waiting and longing, and looking for"—and one thousand will seek her refuge. The millennial glory will be hastened.

Series of Bible Lessons.

Rev. Dr. Morehead, of Xenia, Ohio, Theological Seminary, under the auspices of the Young People's Christian Union, of the First United Presbyterian church, will give a series of Bible lessons each afternoon and evening of this week at 4 and 8 o'clock. All interested in Bible study are invited to come and enjoy these interesting and instructive lessons. The admittance is free to all. The subject for this afternoon is "The Tabernacle and its Furniture," and the subject for the evening lesson, "The Book of Job." Dr. Morehead preached to a large congregation last evening.

The Show Business As An Index of Other Business—Barnum's Circus.

"This is the last bad year our country will see in a long time," said Clarence L. Dean, press agent for the Barnum and Bailey show, last night. "The amusement business is one of the best indexes of the pulse of the body politic, and by this test the financial health of our country must be declared to be improving. We all know that the theatrical business has been very bad for three years, and that last winter was in many sections the worst of the three, because the effects of many ills acted cumulatively on them. Yet, in spite of all that fact, there is every indication of a splendid business for the circus this summer. Of course the Barnum and Bailey show always does well, and whenever it feels the effect of financial stress the others must run hard for shelter."

"Last season the show did a good business; this season it will do a big one. Never has such a tremendously large patronage been given to any circus in New York city as that of the Madison Square Garden to the Barnum show, which closed Saturday night. Not even in the year of the Jumbo excitement was there such an attendance. The season has been longer and the average receipts per week greater. Over 300,000 people have attended the performances, and the receipts have averaged over $50,000 per week."

A Yacht Damaged in Transit.

The smaller of the nantha yachts used here by the Island yacht ferry company, was last week sold to the Sistersville ferry company. Ernest Warfield started to take the boat down to deliver it to its new owners, and when just below Moundsville some part of the machinery broke, and he had to row it the rest of the way by hand and repair it after he reached Sistersville.

Nail Machine Tenders Wanted.

Mr. Stephen Ripley, formerly a well known Wheeling man, now of Hammond, Ind., is in the city for the purpose of securing a few good nail machine tenders to go to Hammond and work in the mill of the Lakeside Iron and Nail Company. Persons who would like to secure such positions can find Mr. Ripley at Holmbricht's cigar store, 1227 Market street, after 9 a. m. to-day.
